

Anthropology Is about You & Everyone

Taught by Arnold Perey
Spring-Summer 2017
Alternate Wednesdays 6 PM

A GUIDE TO ANTHROPOLOGY

We call this semester “A Guide to Anthropology” because we give the basis for navigating the forest of anthropological data. It is in this great principle by Eli Siegel: “All beauty is a making one of opposites, and the making one of opposites is what we are going after in ourselves.” How true the opposites are as method, and how pleasure-giving!

- May 24 Anthropology & the Need for Aesthetic Realism
- June 7 What Should Children Know about Anthropology?
- June 21 Inner Thoughts in Outer Mongolia
- July 5 Culture & the Original Self—Tikopia, the Solomon Islands
- July 19 Change and Sameness—Native North America
- July 29 Saturday (NOT Wednesday August 2) at the Met

We meet with The Visual Arts and the Opposites class at the Met Museum 11:00 AM to study the exciting Native American Art exhibit from the Fenimore Museum

- August 16 Students Speak on the Opposites in Anthropology

